CELEBRATION OF INDEPENDENCE DAY

Extensive Preparations Being Made for Fourth of July in Louisa.

There is no doubt that Louisa will have this year a fine, big celebration of the Fourth of July. Exactly how the birthday of the Republic will be observed it is not now possible to say. Pursuant to a notice in last week's NEWS a meeting was held at the city hall on Friday evening last for the purpose of arranging for the celebration. It was numerously attended by leading citizens who resolved that this year Louisa would do itself proud on the 4th of July. A large sum of money has already been subscribed and a committee of arrangements appointed who know not only how to arrange but how to do things. This committee has entered into correspondence with some of the best holiday people in the country, people who are professional providers of amusements. The committee has not only written to these people but it has telegraphed to some in order to secure their services. We have resolved to have a celebration, and one worth your while. Watch the NEWS for particulars.

LATELY—A large street fair, with a lot of attractive features, will be in Louisa on July 4th.

A. B. PATRICK ENDORSED AS CLASS B. DIRECTOR.

The members of groups seven, nine and ten of the Kentucky Bankers' Association, holding their regular meeting now at Olympia Springs, passed a resolution unanimously endorsing the nomination of A. B. Patrick, of Hallersville, by the conference at Cleveland as a candidate for class B, director of the Fourth federal reserve district. Hon. Thomas A. Combs, of Lexington, is also a candidate for a class B directorship and is being backed strongly by the local banks.

The resolutions passed at the Olympia meeting are as follows:

Resolved, That we, the members of the federal reserve district No. 4, in regular meeting, as members of groups seven, nine and ten of Kentucky Bankers' Association, assembled at Olympia Springs, Ky., this June 11, 1914, knowing his fitness for the place, unanimously endorse the nomination of Mr. A. B. Patrick, of Hallersville, Ky., by the bankers' conference held at Cleveland, O., last week as a most suitable person for the position of director of group three, class B, of said federal reserve district.

We further endorse the action of said Cleveland conference and feel that the best interest of the country will be served and the new law given its best chance for success by the selection of the gentleman nominated at said conference.

CHILD LABOR LAW NOW IN EFFECT.

The child labor law, as passed by the last Legislature, is now in effect. Some of the special changes to which public attention is called is that every child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years must have a permit to work, even to the selling of papers. Every newspaper holding this permit will be given a badge, which is expected to wear as a demonstration of his authority.

Another change is that no child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years shall be permitted to work more than eight hours a day. The former provision was ten hours.

No child under fourteen is allowed to work at all.

THE JUVENILES PICNICKED.

On Tuesday last the Juvenile Missionary Society of the M. E. Church South had a delightful time in the woods just west of Pine Hill. There were many of the youngsters, and they made the woods ring with their merriment. They were hungry, too, nearly all the time they were there, and they had taken with them an elegant supply of the good things for which their mothers are famous. Pastor Keith and wife and mother, Mrs. Ellison, were present as chaperones and assistants in causing a disappearance of vanda. They performed their parts admirably.

PAINFULLY HURT.

Tuesday morning while working in the C. & O. section men near Louisa Foreman W. T. Belcher, of this city, was severely injured. He was shoveling dirt near one of the men who was using a pick, when in some way his right hand received the stroke intended for the dirt. The point of the pick entered the back of the foreman's hand, making a deep, ugly wound. The local C. & O. surgeon took charge of the case.

SUSPECTED HYDROPHOBIA.

Considerable excitement was created on upper Jefferson street Monday by the actions of a dog which was suspected of having hydrophobia. Marshal Ross was informed of the condition of the beast and shot it. It is possible the animal had bitten several other dogs and a cat.

While we are busy swatting flies we might profitably pay some attention to the varmint canines.

THE "SHOOTING UP" OF NEON, LETCHER COUNTY.

The late murderous "shooting up" of Neon, Ky., briefly mentioned in last week's NEWS, is more fully related in the following:

Whitesburg, Ky., June 10.—While under influence of liquor at Neon today William Day, 30 years old, said to be formerly of Breathitt county, shot eight persons, including Mugistrate James M. Wright, M. Davis, a hotel keeper; Victor Stamper, Roy and Jennie Taylor, Howard Wright, Malone Hall and a small boy, Burnett Collins. Day used a shotgun.

Day himself was killed later.

Just at sunset one of the Stamper boys died as the result of the wounds inflicted by Day. Davis, the Taylors, Wright and Collins are dangerously wounded and the attending surgeons fear that they may not survive the night.

Immediately after the shooting Day secured two boxes of cartridges, and thus prepared for a desperate resistance he led to the mountains.

Pursuit was quickly begun by a posse, led by Policeman Blaine Collins. Soon after the departure of the officers a succession of shots was heard from the direction which they had taken, and it was feared that some of them had met the same fate as the Neon victims, but this fear was dispelled by the early return of the posse, which reported that Day had been taken unawares and had been killed in his tracks. A number of shots pierced his body.

For a year or more Day had been a terror in this section.

RECOGNITION WAIVED AND STRIKE CALLED OFF.

Colliers, W. Va., June 12.—The strike of 400 miners of the West Virginia & Pittsburgh Coal Company here was declared off late today following the announcement of leaders of the miners that they would waive the demand for recognition of the union. It was unofficially stated that the company had granted the eight-hour day, the wages of the United Mine Workers of America, and had given the miners the protection of the insurance department of the West Virginia Public Service Commission. The miners, it was said, would abandon the camp they have maintained near the mine since last September, and those who are still here would return to work.

Van Bittner, president of district No. 6, United Mine Workers, was expected to issue the formal statement concerning the ending of the strike tonight. The strike was attended by much disorder.

FIRST RUN OF OIL IN NEW LINE

Independent Line From the Blaine Field to Fuller Station.

The Bera Oil & Gas Company has been organized with James S. Ashworth, of Ashland, president; R. G. Moore, secretary, and those with H. G. Welsh, F. R. Henderson and H. C. Sullivan are directors. The company has a block of leases containing 2100 acres on Bera creek in this county, and will test it as soon as possible.

The well drilled in last week on Tubor's creek, across in West Virginia, about two and a half miles north of Fort Gay, was entirely dry in the Bera sand. Some oil was found in the shallow sands, but we have not learned whether or not it will be operated.

The new pipe line has been laid and is about ready for operation. The oil will be shipped in tank cars from the station at Potter to Marietta, Ohio, where it will be purchased by an independent refinery at a good price. Three tank cars are now on the siding at Fuller station, ready to receive the oil through the new pipe line that will be completed in a day or two. This line was built by the Big Blaine Oil Company, of which Mr. J. E. Thompson, of Huntington, is the head. They have a considerable quantity of oil ready to ship.

The credit for this important piece of work is due chiefly to Mr. Thompson and Tom Hays. It has resulted in getting a fair price for the high grade oil produced in this field and will eventually benefit all local and independent people who have any interests in this field.

KENTUCKY POSTMASTERS.

Falcon, Matthew Caudill; Lackey, Oscar C. Mayo; Mykings, John W. Adams. The postoffice at Finney, Johnson county, will be discontinued June 30th. After that date mail for Finney will be handled at Wheelersburg. A postoffice at Wayland, Floyd county, will be established in a few days.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

News has reached Louisa that during his absence the residence of the Rev. Chas. E. Cruseo was, with its contents, totally destroyed by fire. Mrs. Cruseo and the children barely having time to escape. Mr. Cruseo formerly had charge of the Episcopal Mission, this city.

STOP! READ! and then COME!!!

To Louisa, Ky., for on Thursday, June 25th, at 1 o'clock p. m. Gov. J. C. W. Beckham will speak at the court house in Louisa. He has a message that every true son of Democracy should hear.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW TO GO INTO EFFECT MONDAY.

The new marriage license law passed by the last Kentucky Legislature went into effect Monday, June 15, and makes the securing of a marriage license decidedly more difficult.

Heretofore when the clerk issuing a marriage license was satisfied as to the age of the contracting parties, nothing further was asked but things will be different when a couple, old or young, steps up to the counter and calls for the document that will unite them.

After the groom gives his age to the clerk (and by the way the bride to be present and answer for herself) he will be required to give the names of his parents, place of birth, occupation, and whether single or divorced. To make the matter just a little more binding as well as difficult, the clerk may in his discretion, require the execution of a bond in the sum of $100 with good security. Both prospective bridegroom and bride-to-be must also state the condition of their health.

The new law is designed after the stringent requirements of the Michigan statute. While it is thus made difficult and at times embarrassing to procure license to wed, the laxity of the divorce laws, especially the Reno, Nev., law, which only requires a six months' residence in the state, remain the same and the grind of the divorce mill steadily increases.

A CLOSE CALL AND PAINFUL INJURIES.

Frank Yates, of this city, is laid up at his home as a result of painful injuries and a close call for his life on Monday last. He had gone to the Three Mile oil well, where an engine was at work on the well. Something caused the engine to "run away" with itself, which Mr. Yates saw and ran to stop. When close to the engine his foot tripped and he fell onto the fly wheel. Before he could extricate himself or could be taken off he was carried around by the wheel and received some very painful bruises.

He was brought down on the afternoon train and carried home and Dr. York was called. He found his patient suffering great pains in one hip and shoulder, bruised all over the shoulders and arms. No bones were broken, however, and up to date there is no evidence of any internal injury. Mr. Yates can shake hands with himself on his narrow escape from a shucking death.

KENTUCKY WIDOWS AWARDED PENSIONS.

Washington, June 15.—The House last night passed three bills for the relief of widows of United States Deputy Marshals who had been killed in the performance of their duty in Kentucky. One of the bills, introduced by Representative W. J. Fields, called for $10,000 for Emily Byrd, of Campton, whose husband, William A. Wood, was killed on January 14, 1897. This was put in committee to $1,000, and thus was passed. Of two bills by Representative J. W. Langley, one was for the relief of Ella Sloane, of Pikeville, widow of John Sloane, and the other for the relief of Cynthia Ramey, of Baines, widow of Marion Ramey. Both men were killed on April 4, 1913. Five thousand dollars was asked for each beneficiary, but this was cut to $1,000 for each.

CONGRESSMAN HUGHES RETIRES FROM POLITICS.

Congressman James A. Hughes, who has represented for fourteen years the West Virginia district just across the river from this county, has announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection. His term will expire next March. He has been a very useful and popular member and could have been re-nominated easily. The Fifth district was well taken care of by Mr. Hughes in the way of the good things that an active Congressman can get and his retirement is generally regretted throughout the district.

BANK OF WAYLAND.

The Bank of Wayland, at Wayland, the new coal town on Beaver, will be opened in July. The bank is being established there by Mr. John E. Buckingham and others and will be in charge of James Williams, of this city. Mr. Williams is employed by the Paintsville National Bank and is one of the most popular men of the county. That the bank will be a success under his management goes without saying. Mr. Williams' family are visiting in the country now but will move to Wayland within a short time.—Paintsville Herald.

A KANSAS HISTORIAN.

Thomas Luther, of this city, recently received a copy of the Kansas City Star which contained an illustrated article concerning Mrs. Luther's brother, Mr. William E. Connolly. Mr. Connolly was born in Johnson county, Ky., in 1855 and went to Kansas in 1881. The Star calls him "an original Hill billy, who never went to school but has written more Kansas history than any other living man." Mr. Connolly is now secretary of the Kansas State Historical Society at Topeka and has made fame and a comfortable fortune for himself.

AGAIN USING THE BRUSH.

Twenty-three years ago W. N. Sullivan, of this city, gave the Hunswick hotel a dress of canary yellow paint. Today he is putting on another coat of the same hue. However, this is not the only painting the hotel has received in more than a score of years. Mr. Sullivan handles the brush with the same deftness as of yore.

COUNTY FAIR IS A SURE SUCCESS

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting Held Here Last Monday and Considerable Money Subscribed.

There is a very large and well developed case of County Fair fever abroad in the land and it is very "catching." Nearly everybody is taking it and talking it. It is believed that in a short time every right thinking man and woman, boy and girl in Lawrence and Wayne counties will have this fever and go to work for the success of what is intended to be the best fair ever held in Eastern Kentucky. The "fever" manifested itself at the court house on Monday last, when a fine meeting was held under the auspices of the County Fair Association. All its officers and a large number of the members were present, and all entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion, promising personal and financial support. Over three hundred and seventy-five dollars was pledged as material aid for the fair, and more will be raised with but little trouble. Our people—merchants, farmers, traders, stockmen and professional men—are aroused to a proper sense of the good a well ordered, well conducted county fair will do for them and we are persuaded that great good will come out of this year's show.

It is intended to make a special feature of the Women's Department, and appointed a lady from every precinct in the county to represent her part of the county. Their names will appear later in the NEWS.

Another meeting of the Association will be held here on the third Monday in July, County Court day, when the dates of holding the fair will be named. The dates will probably be the 7th, 8th and 9th or the 8th, 9th and 10th of October. Let everybody get something nice ready for show on that occasion. Premiums and catalogues will be published as soon as possible.

The Lawrence County Fair Association met at the court house June 15, 1914, with V. B. Shortridge, president, in the chair. V. B. Shortridge, called the meeting to order and made a good talk for the good of organization. On motion of H. C. Sullivan, a committee was appointed to add to the precinct committee one lady and as many men as were needed to complete the organization. Some very interesting and appropriate remarks were made by way of encouragement to the fair.

The following committee on finance was appointed: V. B. Shortridge, G. W. Handley, David Elswick and Wm. Taylor. The committee went out and asked the people for a donation and met with a generous response. There will be some additions to the amount already subscribed, and later the NEWS will publish the entire list.

The chair appointed Mrs. Mary Horton over the Women's Department of the fair. The following ladies were also appointed in each voting precinct: Best Fork—Mrs. Florence Riffe; Fallsburg—Mrs. W. T. Kane; Bear Creek—Mrs. Annie Ogle; Lower Louisa—Mrs. Arthur Elswick.

Upper Louisa—Mrs. John Vaughn; Webbville—Miss Emma Thompson; Cherokee—Mrs. Jesse Young; Blaine—Mrs. G. W. Swetnam; Lyons—Mrs. M. D. Sparks; Richardson—Mrs. Jas. Hinkle; Dolbush—Mrs. John McClure; Catt—Mrs. Steuben Graham; Twin Branch—Mrs. Mirt Johns; Busseyville—Miss Bessie Bradley; Charley—Mrs. Gus Moore; Rockcastle—Mrs. Sam Brannan; Little Blaine—Mrs. A. L. Moore; Swetnam—Mrs. George Kouns; Gambill—Mrs. Nathan Gouge. It is requested that every lady present at our next meeting to arrange to take charge of the part of the work they are expected to perform in the fair.

Moved by Aug. Snyder and carried that a committee of three be appointed to purchase or rent ground for a fair ground. The chair appointed Aug. Snyder, Jay H. Northrup and Dr. T. D. Burgess.

The committee to enlarge the committee and add one woman in each precinct was: V. B. Shortridge, John Ekers and Mrs. Mary Horton.

The committees appeared in the Big Sandy News a short time ago that were appointed by the old officers and will hold as committee men, and there has been one lady appointed in each voting precinct. The committees are requested to do their best to work up an interest in their respective precincts. We want the people to make the best showing possible of their live stock and their farm products, or anything else they may see fit to take to the county fair. We would like to have the co-operation of our neighbors just across the river in Wayne county, W. Va., and we hereby extend to them an invitation and would like for all parties from Wayne county that would take part in our coming fair to report at our next meeting which will be July 20th, that being County Court day.

CORYDON ENSLOW HEFLEY.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hefley, of Huntington, announce the recent coming of a daughter—Corydon Enslow. Mrs. Hefley was Miss Sadie Enslow, an attractive girl, well-known in Louisa.

EX-VICE PRESIDENT STEVENSON IS DEAD.

Adlai E. Stevenson, a former Vice President of the United States with Grover Cleveland, died Saturday at a hospital in Chicago after an illness of several months.

Adlai Ewing Stevenson, once Vice President of the United States, had a long and honorable public career. He was Vice President from 1893 to 1897 under President Grover Cleveland. In 1900 he again was nominated by the Democratic party for Vice President and ran with William J. Bryan, the party's candidate for President, but was defeated. He served as a member of the 44th and 45th Congresses. From 1885 to 1889 he served as first assistant postmaster general under President Cleveland.

His last appearance as a candidate for public office was in 1908 when he was nominated for Governor of Illinois by the Democratic party and was defeated by Charles S. Deneen, Republican.

He was born in Christian county, Ky., October 23, 1835, of Scotch-Irish parentage. In 1853 his parents moved to Bloomington, Ill. He attended the public schools and the Illinois University.

In 1856 he graduated from Center College, Danville, Ky. There he was a classmate of Senator Joe Blackburn and other Kentucky youths who later became prominent in public life. He signified the close of his college career by marrying a daughter of Dr. Lewis W. Green, president of the college.

After leaving college Stevenson returned to Bloomington, Ill., and read law. He was admitted to the bar in 1858 and began legal practice at Mendon, Ill., where he remained until 1868. During these ten years he held the office of master in chancery four years and district attorney for a similar period.

In 1868 he returned to Bloomington and formed a law partnership with his cousin, James S. Ewing and for many years the firm was one of the best known in Illinois' legal circles.

Stevenson's political career dated from 1864 when he was a presidential elector on the Democratic ticket. He made a canvass of Illinois in behalf of the McClellan ticket and won a reputation as a political orator.

In 1884 Stevenson led the Illinois delegation to the Democratic National Convention which nominated Grover Cleveland for President. In 1897 he was appointed a member of a commission which visited Europe in an effort to secure international bimetallism.

DEATH OF COUNTY'S OLDEST CITIZEN

John Griffith Passes Away at Age of 110 Years.

John Griffith, who had an authentic record of being one hundred and ten years old, died Sunday at his home on Cherokee creek, this county, where he had lived so long that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. Up to a very short time before his death Mr. Griffith was remarkably well and active for one of so great age. He could bend and see, and would have walked about but his family was afraid he might fall and be permanently injured. Mr. Charles Holbrook, who was at the Griffith home a day or so before the old man died, said to the NEWS that the patriarch was cheerful and talkative, looked well and was plump as a baby. When Mr. Clarence Swetnam was 92 years old, he was heard to say, in a general talk about ages, that "Uncle John" Griffith was a year or two older than he, and Mr. Swetnam has been dead at least eighteen years. Mr. Griffith came from Dickson county, Virginia. He leaves many descendants.

At this time the patient seems to be doing well.

NEW LAW AGAINST CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS DRASTIC.

The following is a copy of the new anti-gun totting law which goes into effect in Kentucky this month, June:

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

That Section 1309, Kentucky Statutes Carroll's Edition of 1909, be stricken out, and in lieu thereof the following section be enacted:

If upon the judgment of conviction could be superceded, no superceded bond has been executed it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court rendering the judgment to at once issue and caused to be placed in the hands of the proper officer for execution a capias profile, and it shall be the duty of said officer to execute at once said writ.

Should the officer in whose hands said capias profile shall come for execution, fail or refuse to perform the duties herein prescribed, and upon conviction therefor, he shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars.

The offense of carrying concealed deadly weapons denounced in this statute is hereby declared a high misdemeanor, and any person convicted under this statute of the offense of carrying concealed upon or about his person a deadly weapon shall be disfranchised and such conviction shall operate to exclude such person from the right of suffrage for the period of two years from the date thereof. Any person convicted a second time under this statute shall be confined in the penitentiary for a period of not less than one nor more than five years.

PROTEST AGAINST ABANDONING STATION

Huntington, June 13.—Fearing that the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad is about to abandon the Ceredo railroad station, Mayor P. C. Chapman, of that town, and other property owners have filed a complaint with the public service commission, E. E. Winters, of the commission, is making an investigation of the complaint and is expected to render a decision shortly.

Recently the petition of the Ceredo people points out, Ceredo has been cut off as a flag stop for train No. 8, on the C. & O., which arrives in Huntington at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The Ceredo officials are of the opinion that this is the first step in the direction of abandoning the station there. It is stated in the petition to the public service commission that train No. 8 has been stopping in Ceredo on flag for several years. They also claim there is considerable traffic over the road and that Ceredo should not be discriminated against.

2-CENT MILEAGE BOOKS WENT ON SALE MONDAY.

Railroad offices now offer for sale the new interchangeable mileage books good on any steam railroad in the State with the single exception of the Illinois Central. The mileage will sell at 2 cents a mile, the books being sold in 1,000 mile lots at $20. The new rate law of 24 cents a mile or mileage at 2 cents a mile went into effect Monday when the first of them were sold. Mileage will be good on the Chesapeake & Ohio, Queen & Crescent, Louisville & Nashville, Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis, Lexington & Eastern, M. & O. and Southern. This mileage will not cover interurban roads though it is said that an effort may be made to do so by the interurban companies.

These books are what are known as the "Z" series among railroad people and are good only when presented by the person who buys them. None of the interstate mileage books recognize interurban railroads and it is thought that is not likely that a precedent will be set in Louisville in regard to their recognition.

NEW OIL FIELD.

Considerable excitement has been stirred up here since the parties who recently brought in their first oil well in the new field on the headwaters of Cow Creek, announced the extent of their find. The matter was kept on the quiet after the completion of the well until those interested in the prospect secured leases on an additional 4,000 acre tract of land supposed to cover the same sand belt which the test well penetrated. The prospectors estimate that the well will easily produce thirty barrels per day, and it is claimed that three or four such wells will produce a sufficient quantity of oil to insure the relaying of the Standard Oil Co.'s pipe line to connect at Campton. This line was taken up a few years ago when the field operated by the Estill County Oil & Gas Co. suspended business.

Those interested in the present enterprise are R. C. Dullin and a number of gentlemen from Greencastle, Ind., and G. B. Williams, president of the Williams Bank, of this place. A company will be incorporated and the field will be developed as rapidly as possible.—Katill Tribune.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM THE WORLD AT LARGE.

THURSDAY.

The Senate adopted the Norris-Simmons amendment to the Canal Tolls Exemption Repeal Bill by a vote of 50 to 24, a larger majority than the Democrats hoped for. The Norris-Simmons amendment would provide that "the passage of the repeal shall not be construed or held as a waiver or relinquishment of any rights the United States may possess under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain."

A serious difference of opinion which may imperil the mediation programme occurred yesterday between the American and Mexican delegates. The Huerta envoys held that the man named as Provisional President should be strictly neutral, while the United States representatives think that a man with Constitutional leanings should be named. There is also a disagreement over the manner of installing the new President.

An agreement practically settling the fire insurance controversy between State officials and foreign fire companies was reached at a conference in Louisville yesterday, involving suspension of the Glenn-Greene amendments, certain reductions and increases in rates and the appointment of a commission to recommend a new law to the next Legislature. The Glenn-Greene amendments to be tested meanwhile.

Plans for a Protestant pan-denominational service to be held in Washington next Thanksgiving, to which President Wilson will be invited, will be launched by the general Synod of the Reformed Church in America, in session at Auburn Park, N. Y.

The Hobson Nation-wide Prohibition Resolution was made the special order of business by the House Rules Committee for July 1, on which date it probably will be reported to the House by a narrow margin.

A letter written by Amos Pinchot to Col. Roosevelt and other Progressive leaders urges the separation of George W. Perkins from the party, declaring him to be a menace to the party's welfare.

At a heated session in Washington yesterday Federal conciliators, operators and miners failed to reach a basis of settlement for the West Virginia mine strike.

Four girls, ranging in age from 18 years to 9, were found dead in a creek near Sapulpa, Okla. Evidence of foul play was found on their bodies.

FRIDAY.

Announcement was made at Saltillo last night that Carranza had replied to the note of the mediators, and would send delegates to the conference. Just as the American envoys feared the mediation parleys would have to end the Mexican delegates yielded their point as to the manner in which the successor to Gen. Huerta should be installed and smoothed the way for further conferences. The next step is the actual selection of the man, and it seems sure that he will be a man identified with the Constitutionalist faction. The mediators yesterday made public the actual language of the communications which have passed between the mediators and the rebels.

Repeal of Panama Canal tolls exemption for American coastwise shipping passed the Senate last night by a vote of 50 to 35. The measure now goes back to the House, which is expected to accept the Simmons-Norris amendment specifically reserving all rights the United States may have under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. Much bitterness was shown during the closing debate. Senator James aroused the ire of Senator Vandaman and he in turn came so near engaging in a fistfight with Senator West, of Georgia, that Senator Ashurst and the Sergeant-at-Arms were forced to interfere.

While speeches were being made in the House of Commons as to further treatment of suffragettes a bomb was exploded by a militant under the Coronation chair in Westminster Abbey, close by. The explosion was heard for blocks and drove several members of Parliament out of the building. According to the police little damage was done to the historic chair. No arrests have been made as yet in connection with the affair.

Gov. McCreary signed the fire insurance agreement last night. Application will be made at once for an injunction to prevent the operation of the Glenn-Greene law.

Submission of claims of miners and operators in the Kanawha coal field to the Federal commissioners of conciliation practically has been completed.

SATURDAY.

Representatives of the United States and Mexico, in the presence of the mediators, yesterday formally attached their signatures to the first protocol of the mediation proceedings. It provides that a government is to be constituted in Mexico of a character to be later provided, which shall be recognized by the United States on a date to be fixed later, and which, from that time forward, shall exercise public functions until there shall be inaugurated a Constitutional President.

Impeachment charges were preferred against United States District Judge Alston C. Dayton yesterday in the House. Dayton's alleged misconduct is said to have been in connection with the West Virginia mine strikes.

The Greene-Gleason insurance law, which was passed by the last Legislature and which caused the withdrawal of 104 fire insurance companies from the State, was declared unconstitutional by Judge R. L. Stout.

The Panama Canal Tolls Repeal Bill was signed by Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark, and will be sent to the White House to receive the President's signature on his return from Princeton.

President Wilson will leave Washington March 5, 1915, to attend the formal opening of the Panama Canal, and after passing through the canal will proceed to the San Francisco exposition.

War between Greece and Turkey is inevitable, according to the newspaper Hestia, of Athens, which is considered as voicing the majority of Greek public opinion.

A rain of ashes and the smell of sulphur accompanied the fifth and most violent eruption of Mount Lassen, California, yesterday.

MONDAY.

Officers and men among the American bluejackets and marines who distinguished themselves by conspicuous bravery at Vera Cruz, 108 in number, were formally recognized and rewarded by the Navy Department. There were medals and gratuities for eleven enlisted men for extraordinary heroism displayed. Especial praise was accorded Rear Admiral Fletcher by Secretary Daniels.

With the tolls fight past the House plans to push the appropriation bills, while the Senate proposes to rush important trust bills. Leader Underwood, during the week, will renew the fight for a July adjournment. Progressives in the House are looking forward to a conference with Col. Roosevelt, when something definite regarding the former President's plans may become known.

Admitting that Mexican mediation at Niagara Falls is now at its most critical stage, where the personnel of the provisional government to succeed Huerta must be selected, Administration leaders are hopeful. It is stated that a solution may be reached which will terminate strife in Mexico.

Two eruptions were noted yesterday at Mt. Lassen, the California volcano, which is in a state of activity after a lapse of years. A column of smoke estimated to be 2,000 feet high was seen from a distance of fifty miles. One life is reported to have been lost.

A bomb was exploded in St. George's church, London, wrecking several pews and stained windows. There is said to be conclusive evidence that the explosion was the work of suffragettes.

Although cut short by the drought, it is reported that the strawberry crop of Warren county will be worth $65,000 to the growers.

TUESDAY.

The mediators at Niagara Falls replied to the latest note of Carranza, in which the latter says he desires to send three delegates to the conference to discuss the international troubles between Mexico and the United States, by telling him that to do so he must comply with their original terms, the arranging of an armistice with Huerta. That a crisis has been reached in the course of mediation is freely admitted in Washington.

President Wilson came out with a flat declaration that he would use every influence at his command to get the pending "trust" bills through the Senate at this session, despite what he termed a deliberate campaign by certain interests for an adjournment of Congress and a postponement of the Administration's legislative programme.

Several streets gave way in the vicinity of the Boulevard Hausmann and the Rue Auber and the Place Saint Augustine after a severe rainstorm in Paris, and a number of pedestrians were engulfed.

New officials created by the last Legislature took charge of their duties at Frankfort yesterday.

WEDNESDAY.

Hope for the successful solution of the Mexican problem by means of mediation was practically abandoned last night by the American delegates after they returned from an all-day conference with the Constitutional delegates in Buffalo. The rebel representatives refused to agree to an armistice or that any man but a member of the Constitutional party should be chosen as the provisional president of Mexico to succeed Huerta. The next mediation conference to be held Friday when the Argentine Minister returns. It is believed will be a last. An open meeting of Villa against Carranza, to all appearances, forms the most serious development in Mexico. Officers loyal to Villa yesterday seized the telegraph office at Juarez and put out the Carranza officials in charge.

A CONFESSION

Hopes Her Statement, Made Public, will Help Other Women.

Hines, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Eula Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good."

Before I commenced using Cardui, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a tired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches continuously.

Since taking Cardui, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything goes down just as it should, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight.

If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer.

For half a century, Cardui has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the womanly constitution and help build the weakened organs back to health and strength.

Cardui has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

WEST VIRGINIA

ITEMS OF NEWS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Washington, D. C.
June 10, 1914.

Hon. Wells Goodkykootz,
Williamson, W. Va.

Dear Sir:—Following my telegram of yesterday, I am pleased to advise you that the Judiciary Committee made a favorable report on Senate Bill No. 5574, providing for the holding of a term of the District Court for the Southern District of West Virginia at Williamson. When this bill is reported to the House, which will be done at once, it is my intention then to have it transferred to the unanimous consent calendar, it being a private bill, there will be no objection to it. This method will insure its passage at an early date.

I am very glad that you will have a term of court at Williamson; first, because the business interests need it, and second, it will give us good grounds for settling a satisfactory increase for the Federal building.

Very truly yours,
J. A. HUGHES.

Huntington, W. Va., June 11.—The West Virginia Brewing Company has no idea of making a fight in the courts to prevent the prohibition amendment from becoming effective on July 1, according to a statement by H. C. Duncan, Jr., member of the counsel for that corporation. Mr. Duncan says that all the information he has on the subject is that the brewery management intends to stop the manufacture of beer. When interviewed recently, Col. J. J. Kenney said that he was not ready to make announcement in regard to the use to which the brewery property would be put in the future.

"TIZ" SOOTHES SORE, TIRED, SWEATY FEET.

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet, swollen, hot, smelly, sweaty feet. No more pain in corns, calluses or bunions. No matter what ails your feet, or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "TIZ."

"TIZ" draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. "TIZ" is magical. "TIZ" is grand. "TIZ" will cure your foot troubles so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore, swollen or tired.

Get a 25 cent box at any drug or department store, and get instant relief.

RAINFALL, W. VA.

Today a great many people of Rainelle and vicinity made a trip to the Big Sewell mountain church, where services were held and the graves of departed friends were decorated. After services were over dinner was served on the ground and everyone ate hearty of the wholesome and delicious repast. Those who had the honor of partaking of the fine dinner thank the kind farmers and others of Big Sewell mountain for the way in which we were received. The writer was one of a party of sightseers who visited Hunters Knob recently. The party was composed of H. N. Bailey, Frank Bailey, Warren Bailey, formerly of Kentucky, and Clyde Spangler, of West Virginia, Roscoe Rhodes, of Virginia, H. H. Harmon, photographer of East Rainelle, W. Va., and a gentleman from Landisburg, W. Va. We made the trip from the church house to the foot of Hunters Knob, which is nearly round, and from here 3500 feet above sea level, you can get a view of the surrounding country, that is beautiful to behold. This place was fortified by the Confederates under Gen. Floyd and Williams, but owing to some disagreement between them, Lee coming on the scene at that time sent Gen. Floyd to the South. He himself then took charge of affairs. The lines of fortification are still to be seen, extending almost around the Knob. But time which changes all things has changed this line of entrenchment considerably. Across the valley distinctly seen is Armstrong mountain where repared the enemy. To the left you can all but see the farm house where Gen. Lee took dinner while waiting for the battle to take place. It is said the old lady is still living and residing in the same house. We regret our inability to see her. We had the honor of meeting a gentleman who is claimed on good authority, had the pleasure of riding Gen. Lee's favorite horse, Traveller, down from Hunters Knob after the battle. He was only nine years old at the time, only a boy, but proud of an honor that probably no man in America can boast of. This battle took place just before West Virginia became a separate state. The country around Hunters Knob is an elevated table land, well adapted to farming, when the season is not too dry. We saw some good grass fields and some planted in corn. They were looking fine, taking in consideration the extended drought we have had. We think from our experience, the farming element of this vicinity is prosperous. We hope their energy and thrift will bring financial returns.

SENATE CREATES A PLACE FOR CAMDEN.

Washington, June 15.—The Democratic leaders of the Senate have decided to create a special committee chairmanship for Johnson N. Camden, the new United States Senator from Kentucky, who will be sworn in next Wednesday.

It was decided today that Senator Camden will not have to sit on the Republican side of the chamber as first supposed. No. 77, the seat occupied by the late Senator Bradley, has been secured by Senator Sherman, of Illinois. Senator Sherman's old seat, No. 76, will be moved over to the Democratic side, desk, chair and all, so that Senator Camden may sit among his Democratic colleagues.

PROGRESS TO EASTERN KENTUCKY COAL MINES

Interesting Article by Judge Wilson, of Lexington, After Visiting This Section.

(By Judge Samuel M. Wilson.)

To condense within reasonable limits all of one's impressions of the excursion into Eastern Kentucky, which took place on May 29-31, is a practical impossibility. Most of those who composed the party were from Fayette, Woodford and adjoining counties, while a few came from Louisville, and all made the trip under the leadership and chaperonage of gentlemen from other states.

Considering the trip as a whole, the impression which overtops all others is the perfection with which the arrangements for the outing were made and the absolutely faultless way in which these arrangements were carried out. By unanimous consent, the chief credit for the entire success of the trip from every standpoint must be accorded to Mr. Graeme Turnbull, of Baltimore, the energetic, resourceful and gracious representative of the Consolidation Coal Company.

From one of his intimate friends on the trip, we learned that Mr. Turnbull is not without experience in handling functions like this, and that his marked success in managing such an affair has been long since recognized and appreciated. Paraphrasing, it might be said that it seemed to detract in no way from the foremost reputation of Mr. Turnbull that he announced at the delightful dinner served at Fleming, on the evening of Saturday, May 30, that he would undertake to do anything but make a speech, and that he positively declined to do so. In a gathering of forty diners, where there were some thirty-nine after-dinner speeches delivered, his dilidence about speech-making clothed him with a sort of unique distinction.

Three Classes in Party.

Composing the party of forty or more who left Lexington on Friday night, May 29, were men of three classes—men who have long been thoroughly acquainted with that section of Kentucky about to be visited, others who were not acquainted with Eastern Kentucky, and others still who were making their maiden trip into that rich section of the State. Not only to those who saw the Elk Horn coal fields for the first time, but to others whose privilege it had been in times past to travel through that part of Kentucky, must this latest excursion have proved an impressive revelation of what has already been done and even more of what promises to be done in that region within the near future.

The thought, in varying forms, was frequently expressed by members of the party and admits of no question, that the resources and riches of the timber lands and coal fields, of which the towns of Jenkins, McToberts, Fleming, Haymond, Hemphill and Wayland are the center, absolutely transcend belief. The marvel of it is that we Kentuckians of the Blue Grass have been so slow to appreciate the untold mineral wealth of this particular section and so inexcusably backward in taking hold of the present and prospective development of its vast wealth.

If any such natural resources of timber, coal, oil and gas had been discovered in Alaska, South Africa, or Siberia, it would have been comparatively easy to raise a force of at least two hundred thousand armed Kentuckians to hazard their all in uncalculated explorations and exploitation.

Excuse for Laggard Enterprise.

True it is, and this much, perhaps, may be said by way of excuse for our laggard enterprise in that direction, that much good money has been thrown away by Kentuckians in years past through imprudent speculation in mountain lands. A considerable amount of money was so wasted during the boom times of the early nineties, when a number of ill-considered ventures attracted investment, and even those who had placed their money providently were overtaken and ruined by the panic. In some localities the feud spirit has also had its deterrent effect.

Other large sums of money have been lost from time to time through bad titles to land, which was in itself valuable and more than worth what it cost the investor. When one considers the careful, systematic and thorough manner in which the later comers into the same field have persisted in clearing and perfecting their titles, it can not be denied that those who threw their money away in times past had only themselves to blame for their losses.

Outside capital, on a large scale, furnished principally from Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and other money centers of the East, has been enlisted to further the development of the coal properties in this peculiarly rich section, but the fact should not be lost sight of that a large share of the benefit of the present advanced state of development is due to Kentuckians.

Unstinted Praise Due Mayo.

To the late lamented John C. Mayo, whom his associates have pronounced "the first and only great business genius Kentucky has produced," must be given unstinted praise for bringing together under one control the vast acreage of coal and timber lands which until recently were held for the most part by the Northern Coal & Coke Company. To him, also, must be given the praise for his sound business judgment in resolving to reduce to a certainty the titles to the innumerable tracts of land which he gradually got together, when once he had determined that these lands were valuable enough to deserve acquisition at all.

The example set by Mayo and his associates of the Northern Coal & Coke Company in the matter of clearing and perfecting their land titles has since been followed to distinct advantage by other individuals and corporations interested in the mountain lands of Eastern Kentucky, and the same policy with respect to titles must be rigidly adhered to by all who may hope successfully to adventure into this same alluring region in the future.

To Johnson N. Camden, another Kentuckian of wealth, enterprise and foresight, must be awarded high praise for the part he has taken in encouraging and promoting the forward movement of development in the same field. Both of these men have had the rare faculty of inspiring confidence and courage in others. Without them, or men like them, the development already noted would have fallen far short of the point which it has actually reached.

Nevertheless, it remains true that a very large percentage, if not all, of the Consolidation of Industry, both in Central Kentucky and in the Falls City, have remained strangely indifferent, if not stone-blind, to the wonderful opportunities in that rugged region about the headwaters of the Kentucky and the Big Sandy.

To all those of this description who may still, like so many "doubting Thomases," hold aloof or hesitate to join in the effort to develop and bring into the markets of the world the untouched resources of the mountains, this much, we think, may be said, and it stands out as one of the deepest impressions forced upon us during this recent excursion into the coal fields, that the present and prospective development of coal there gives every indication of being bottomed upon a substantial and enduring basis.

The old adage that "seeing is believing" applies here in its fullest force. When one not only has ocular evidence of a coal seam at the opening or entrance on the outside, but can ride in a straight line for a mile underground through an unbroken seam of eight-foot coal, he certainly ought to doubt no longer. This was what was done by the entire party on the recent excursion. And when it is true that openings and extensive tests have demonstrated the fact that the coal field in question covers an area of hundreds of thousands of acres and will tax to the utmost the industry of both operators and railroads for generations to come, there can no longer be room for skepticism.

Another Striking Feature.

Another striking feature of the general situation is that the principal operating company at this time in the Elk Horn field is the Consolidation Coal Company, a corporation organized in the state of Maryland several years prior to the Civil War, and which has actually been mining coal without interruption in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky since the year 1864.

The total investment of the Consolidation Coal Company and its subsidiary and affiliated companies, at the close of the year 1913, aggregated more than $73,000,000. The investment of the Elk Horn Fuel Company, which, like the Northern Coal & Coke Company, is a holding and not an operating company, is about $30,000,000. Operating a large part of the properties of the Elk Horn Fuel Company is the Elk Horn Mining Corporation, with an aggregate investment at this time of about $7,000,000.

Closely allied to these giant corporations are the Mineral Development Company and the Mineral Fuel Company, but the half dozen companies here named, although by their size they easily dominate the field, are in measure matched by a score or more of other companies engaged in like operations, and yet only a fraction of the coal territory has been covered.

One Evidence of Faith.

As evidence of its faith in the early and lasting development of this section the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has expended on the extension of the L. & N. more than seven million dollars. Kentuckians who have money to invest should invest it there and banks and trust companies of Kentucky, with funds to lend on safe and legitimate securities, should not hesitate to make loans to reputable and responsible borrowers who are making investments in this part of the state.

The advantage of such an extension as that we are describing, to those having more or less frequent occasion to visit Eastern Kentucky on business, is that it affords an excellent opportunity to make observations and to take notes of the conditions and prospects of that region without having their vision unduly contracted, narrowed or obscured by urgent and distracting business engagements.

The writer himself has been going into different parts of Eastern Kentucky for fully twenty-five years past, and during the past eight or ten years has visited this particular section with measurable frequency, and yet he can recall no previous occasion when the opportunity for so clear, connected and comprehensive a reconnaissance of this region was afforded to him. This was so, notwithstanding the fact that, from first to last, the entire trip might with accuracy be termed a jolly and diverting pleasure trip, rather than a business-burdened journey.

Ride Across the Mountain.

In spite of the extreme heat, none of those who crossed the mountain from McToberts to Jenkins, in wagons or on horseback, can soon forget the exhilaration of that ride. The wagon road across the ridge, which separates the headwaters of the Kentucky from the headwaters of the Big Sandy, while a modern road in every respect, and of scientific, up-to-date construction, was crossed by the guests of the Consolidation Coal Company, the Elk Horn Fuel Company and the Elk Horn Mining Corporation, on the morning of Decoration Day with as much zest as if each member of the party had himself been the first to explore and mark out that roadway.

This inspection trip, intended as a practical business matter, rather than a merely social event, and dealing for the most part with downright material facts, nevertheless had a romantic side to it, which appealed very strongly to one's imagination. One could not help thinking of the days of Robin Hood and his "merrile men" of Sherwood forests. It brought to mind, also, Governor Spotswood and his famous ride across the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, with his redoubtable "Knights of the Golden Horseshoe," some two hundred years ago. Or even more pointedly did it remind one of the personally conducted tour, in 1732, of the versatile and witty Colonel William Byrd, of "Westover," from Williamsburg to Germanna, and the iron lines of Col. Alexander Spotswood on the upper waters of the Rappahannock. Colonel Byrd, in the Westover Manuscripts, has preserved for us a most entertaining account of his journey, entitled "A Progress to the Mines." Those early Kentuckians who opened the iron mines in Bath county must themselves have been inspired to such surprising deeds of enterprise, in the very infancy of the Commonwealth, by the noble example of progressiveness set by Governor Spotswood and his associates nearly one hundred years before. Not without truth was Governor Spotswood designated the "Tubal Cain of Virginia."

Impressions Made by Journey.

The impressions made upon one by this last journey into Eastern Kentucky, it seems, were almost a literal duplicate of the impressions of a week or more before upon other visitors to the same locality from points outside of Kentucky. Mr. Richard H. Edmonds, of Baltimore, editor of the Manufacturers Record, who shared that previous tour of inspection through the territory bordering the headwaters of the Big Sandy and its tributaries, is quoted in the Baltimore Sun as saying:

"It is altogether probable that more wealth will be created in that territory by reason of its remarkable high-grade coking coal than has been created in any other coal section of America, not excepting even the Connellsville region, which made possible the enormous iron and steel development of Pittsburgh, where Frick, Carnegie and others made their almost limitless millions."

Mr. Edmonds further asserts that the Kentucky field is "probably the most important coking field in the world," and informs us that experts have repeatedly pointed to the exhaustion of the Connellsville region and indicated that to a large extent the Kentucky coal would have to take its place. The importance of this utterance is that it is not a fanciful day-dream or a transitory picture of the imagination, but a straight-forward statement of a well attested matter of fact, a carefully weighed utterance by a discriminating critic of industrial enterprise.

Prospect for Development.

It is, of course, well known that coal is found in Western as well as in Eastern Kentucky, but with the opening of the Panama Canal and the improvement of the waterway down the Ohio and Mississippi, it is not likely that the supply will for long, if ever, outrun the demand. The prediction has been made that probably in less than five years more coal will be shipped from Eastern Kentucky than is now produced in the entire state, and that this will be so notwithstanding the increase in the production of the mines in Western Kentucky.

However this may be, whether the expectations of phenomenal development is to be realized or not, there is one feature of the coal situation in Eastern Kentucky which merits immediate and mature consideration by the business men and the business interests of all Kentucky and more especially by the financiers of the Blue Grass.

What gives to the Elk Horn coal its unquestioned and extraordinary value is the fact that it is what is known as a high-grade coking or by-product coal. It is an indispensable factor in the growth of the iron and steel industry, and with the abolishment of the bee-hive furnace and the utilization of gas, ammonia and other by-products of coking coal, its value for commercial purposes is beyond all computation.

The planting of Seed Potatoes in June and July is increasing to a wonderful extent. A great many farmers claim that they give better crops planted at this time than they do when planted in the spring. Potatoes planted in June and July mature in the cool weather of the fall, at a time when they can be harvested to best advantage.

The Seed Potatoes we offer are put in cold storage early in the season, so as to keep in first-class, vigorous condition. "Wood's Crop Special" giving prices and full information about Late Seed Potatoes and all other Seasonable Seeds, mailed free on request.

Governor McCreary is gaining ground steadily and rapidly in the race for the United States Senate. He is the man who can win in November. All Democrats can and will vote for him when nominated, and this is what it will take to secure a Democratic Senator this fall. The first desire of every true Democrat should be that Kentucky be represented by Democratic Senators. The only way to do this is to nominate the man who can get the vote of the entire party in the final election.

JOHNSON N. CAMDEN ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT TO U. S. SENATE TENDERED BY GOV. MCCREARY

New Member Has Long Been Identified With Development and Progress of Kentucky and Aspires To Primary Indorsement For the Short Term.

Frankfort, Ky., June 18.—In response to the formal notification sent by Governor McCreary to Johnson N. Camden, of Versailles, of the appointment of the latter to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Senator William O. Bradley, His Excellency to-day received the following letter of acceptance from Senator Camden:

"Versailles, Ky., June 18, 1914.
"His Excellency, Governor James B. McCreary, Frankfort, Ky.—My Dear Governor McCreary: With great gratification, and with the fullest appreciation of the high honor bestowed upon me, I accept your appointment as United States Senator.

"May I say that, however unworthy I am to wear the mantle of the great statesmen who have so often represented Kentucky in the United States Senate, I am sensible that in two qualifications I may at least link my name with theirs—in love for my state and in the desire to serve her well.

"Short as my term of office will be, I shall seek, as best I can, to discharge its duties with absolute fairness toward all and with the high spirit and broad aims which the large and vital questions now before the country demand, with the principles of the Democratic party as outlined in the Baltimore platform as my guide.

"Your Excellency knows how deeply I am and have been concerned in our agricultural and educational welfare, and it pleases me to think that in my appointment you have intended an especial recognition of these, the corner stones of the progress of any state or nation.

"Having decided to accept your appointment, I feel a natural desire that your action should be endorsed by the people. I have, therefore, decided to enter the August primary and to ask the people to set their seal of approval upon my appointment by nominating and electing me for the remainder of the term, from November until next March.

"With renewed expressions of profound thanks and appreciation, I am, dear sir, very sincerely yours, J. N. Camden."

Long Identified With Kentucky.

Senator Johnson Newcomb Camden has for nearly a quarter of a century been identified with the agricultural, educational, industrial and political life of Kentucky, and is to-day one of the state's most potent men of affairs.

Senator Camden was born at Parkersburg, W. Va., January 5, 1865, the son of Johnson Newcomb and Anne (Thompson) Camden. On the paternal side he is of English and on the maternal side of Scotch-Irish and Dutch ancestry.

His father was United States Senator from West Virginia from 1891 to 1897 and from 1902 to 1905, and was a powerful factor in the political life and industrial development of West Virginia. He had large holdings in coal and oil properties, and was identified with many enterprises in connection therewith.

Upon his graduation from Phillips Andover Academy and the Virginia Military Institute the subject of this sketch attended Columbia University and afterward entered upon his active career as Treasurer and Farmmaster of the Ohio River Railroad, a line which had been built by his father. He resigned this position to become President and Treasurer of the construction company engaged in building the Monongahela River Railroad, from Fairmont to Clarksburg, W. Va., and continued so occupied until the completion of the line.

Marries Kentucky Belle.

It was while thus engaged that he came to Kentucky and married, in 1893, a fair daughter of the Blue Grass, Miss Susanna Preston Hart, whose father was Mr. William Preston Hart, the founder of the famous Spring Hill Farm, near Versailles, in Woodford County.

After a couple of years' residence in Parkersburg, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Camden decided to make their home at Spring Hill Farm, and in 1899 they returned to this garden spot in the Blue Grass, which now embraces 1,600 acres, upon which Senator Camden has, by producing the best of tobacco, hemp, wheat, corn, oats, clover, timothy, alfalfa and some of the finest of this country's thoroughbred running horses, fine cattle and sheep, demonstrated that he is by instinct, inclination and voice a practical farmer who is well-versed in the science of farming and a stock breeder who has a superior knowledge of blood lines and mating.

Senator Camden is a member of the Kentucky Branch of the Farmers' Union and is President of the Farmers' Union Mill, the only co-operative mill in the state. He is the pioneer alfalfa grower in Kentucky, and has been long interested in experimental work as fostered by the Kentucky Experiment Station at Kentucky State University, of which he is one of the Trustees. His distinction as a breeder of thoroughbred horses and the interest he displayed for the improvement of the breed caused his appointment to membership on the State Racing Commission by Governor A. E. Wilson and his reappointment by Governor James B. McCreary and his election by his fellow Commissioners as Chairman of the Board. As a breeder of Jersey cattle Senator Camden has achieved much success. His farm at Spring Hill farm a herd of about 100 pure bred Jerseys, principally Island stock, and he conducts a practical, paying dairy.

JOHNSON N. CAMDEN.

Interested in Education.
Senator Camden has ever displayed an earnest interest in education, and at the recent session he was chosen Vice President of the Southern Educational Conference, to succeed Hon. Walter Page, who is now Ambassador to the court of St. James. His now famous barbecue for the farmers of Kentucky at his great farm last summer was planned as an educational event for the tillers of the soil, and it was voted by all who attended, and they numbered into the thousands—the most wonderful achievement of its kind yet undertaken by any individual in Kentucky.

After the death of his father Senator Camden took up the management of vast mining and industrial affairs, and has demonstrated that he possesses inherent business instinct. He associated himself with the late John C. Mayo, and with former Senator C. W. Watson, and formulated plans for the wonderful development that is progressing in Eastern Kentucky.

Senator Camden became actively interested in politics in 1911, serving on the Executive and Financial State Democratic Committee, the accomplishment being a sweeping Democratic victory and the election of the present state administration. The following year he was Chairman of the Presidential Campaign Committee, with a like Democratic victory.

Senator and Mrs. Camden have two daughters, Misses Tevis and Anna, the latter of whom is at school at Margaret College, Versailles, and the former a very accomplished young woman.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Martha Kirkendall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hughes, was born December 6, 1883; departed this life June 3, 1914, at 1:30 a. m. at the home of her father at Kenova, W. Va.

She was converted and united with the M. E. Church at Kenova in 1907, and lived a Christian life until the time of her death. She bore her suffering with patience until God relieved her of her pain. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and little daughter, Beatrice, father, mother, one sister and brother and a host of other relatives and friends, one brother and one sister having preceded her to the better world.

Dearest Martha, thou hast left us,
And our loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God who has bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.
One by one earth's ties are broken

As we see our loved ones decay;
And the hopes we fondly cherish
Brighten but to pass away.
One by one our hopes grow brighter
As we near the shining shore,
For we know across the river
Waits the loved ones gone before.
The golden gates were open
And a gentle voice said "Come!"
And with farwells softly spoken
She calmly entered home.

NEWLY WEDS.

IN MEMORY.

Mrs. George R. Diamond departed this life June 6, 1914, at the age of 62 years. She leaves a husband, two children, two brothers, one sister and a host of friends to mourn her death. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. M. A. Hay and was largely attended. She died with that dreaded disease, tuberculosis.

She was a member of the Baptist Church, was a good wife and mother, and a good neighbor, and was often heard calling on the Blessed Savior to take her home out of her suffering.

It is hard to break the tender cord, When love has bound the heart; It is hard so hard to speak the word We must forever part.

She told us not to weep for her, but to prepare to meet her in a world that is free from sin. We know it is sad and lonely but God's will be done. He has led us safe thus far, and He will lead us home. DAUGHTER.

The Rev. J. Howard Gibbons, rector of Calvary Church, Ashland, preached at the M. E. Church, Louisa, Tuesday evening. His next service in this city will be held Tuesday evening, July 21, when he will administer the rite of Holy Communion.

The Rev. F. F. Shannon, Mrs. Shannon and the irrepressible Frederick, arrived from Brooklyn Tuesday evening. Mr. Shannon preached in his splendid church Sunday, the last until fall, and the next day the family turned their faces toward his loved Kentucky. They are in good health and the NEWS hopes they will enjoy their vacation and spend all of it in Louisa.

Mr. Halbrook, of this city, is superintendent of the Fort Gay Baptist Sunday School, quite a large and interesting body of pupils and teachers. On Sunday last he took his school of 69 members, attended by numerous visitors, to Fountain Park, a pretty place on the Point, where the school was regularly instructed. After services a beautiful dinner was spread and much enjoyed.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Gallup attracted a joyful gathering of the younger set on last evening, the event being to celebrate the 17th birthday anniversary of their son, Geo. Gallup. GET 2 TO 21 YEARS.

Bob and Buck Biggs were given two to twenty-one years each at Grayson Wednesday for the murder of Jim Case, Barrett's creek in May, of which mention was made in this paper.

This is the final "wind-up" of murder cases on the Circuit Court docket, and Judge Redwine has certainly made a mark by disposing of them so soon.—Olive Hill Times.

NOTICE.

Before the next issue of this paper is taken from the press Governor Beckham, the idol of Kentucky Democracy, will address the voters of Lawrence county. He will speak at the court house June 25 at 1 o'clock p. m. Don't fail to hear him. (adv. 1.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The program for the convention to be held in Louisa July 15 and 16 is now ready, and a most excellent one it is. We are to have with us this year for the first time our Elementary Field Worker, Miss Claude L. Dames, of Louisville. A Dance in a Methodist Church is out of the ordinary, but this one is permissible, and all who come and hear her will be amply rewarded.

A special invitation is given to every licensed or ordained preacher in the county to attend this convention. Nobody knows better than the Sunday School worker that without the aid and cooperation of the preacher the best results cannot be obtained. We wonder just how many preachers there are in the county. We should like to see them all together once, and have Mr. Luther make a picture of that splendid group of these "Watchmen on Zion's Walls." Come, preachers, come and let us all be together once. Observe that Louisa will entertain four delegates (provided the preacher is one) from each school. The superintendent should be another. Have some delegate to be prepared to give in one minute the best thing in your school. Send the names of your delegates to Mr. C. H. Ross in time for the committee to secure homes for all. Do not neglect this. Write Miss Emma Thompson, at Webbville, for a blank. If you have not already received one, on which to make a report of your school. We want to ask that our district officers make a special effort to have each of their schools represented. Write to Miss Thompson at Webbville, or to M. S. Burns, at Louisa, for program and particulars.

Elder Stone, of Grayson, Ky., one of the prominent Bible School evangelists of the State, will have a prominent place in the program. There are other good things in store.

PIKE COUNTY TO BUILD BRIDGE.

After years of indifference it seems that at last the Pike county fiscal court will grant the demands of thousands of citizens for better roads and bridges. A proposition is now pending for the erection of a bridge to span Tug river within the city limits of Williamson and at some point convenient for the commerce of Pond Creek.

Prominent Pike countians, among them Mr. Tom Goff, former Williamson citizen, have procured the consent of their fiscal court to stand half of the expense of a steel bridge, the other half to be paid by the taxpayers of Mingo.

While there has been some talk of such a proposition for several months, it was not until the last few days that it was reduced to concrete form, the Pike fiscal court entering an order agreeing to stand half of the expense.

Mr. Goff was in Williamson this week with a copy of the order entered by the Pike county court and with other prominent Pike county men has enlisted practically the united support of the business men of Williamson. It is stated that the members of the Pike county court have asked for a conference with the Mingo county court on the 22nd of this month, when, it is believed, a definite understanding will be reached.

While no site for the proposed bridge has been selected it is the wish of those interested to locate it as near as possible to the mouth of Pond creek. There is already a railroad bridge at the mouth of this stream.

In addition to the construction of this bridge it is stated that the Pike authorities also favor a bond issue for good roads and that they propose to build a first-class road from the mouth of Pond to Pikeville.—Mingo Republican.

STATE FIGHT ON ILLITERACY.

After hearing an address describing educational conditions in the Eastern Kentucky mountains delivered by Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, founder of the "moonlight" schools, the Kentucky Society of Colonial Dames at a meeting in Louisville decided to foster a State-wide campaign for the dissemination of information bearing upon illiteracy in the State, with a view to arousing public sentiment and bringing about measures to provide better educational facilities.

When the next Government census is taken, six years hence, the society hopes illiteracy will have been wiped out as a result of the educational campaign now being started.

DOG HAD RABIES.

Dr. Salmon received a telegram Monday evening from the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, D. C., reciting that the head of the dog which recently bit Dr. Salmon's six year old daughter, Charlotte Susan, of the wrist showed positive signs of rabies.

Dr. and Mrs. Salmon and two daughters left for Washington to remain for twenty days, while Charlotte Susan undergoes treatment in the Pasteur Institute there.

The dog which bit Charlotte Susan is said to have bitten a number of other dogs before it was killed.—Ashland Independent.

The life of a human being is worth more than all the dogs which ever snarled and snapped and bit and tore men, women and children. The city council of Ashland has ordered the immediate killing of all dogs not tagged and muzzled.

OLDEST LADY IN THIS SECTION.

The wide circle of friends throughout the Big Sandy valley of Mrs. Nancy Powell, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. James Finney, at Burnaugh, will regret to hear that she is very ill and owing to her advanced years in life, slight hopes are felt for a brighter change.

Mrs. Powell will have attained the grand old age of 97 years should she survive till the 17th day of October. She is the oldest pioneer resident of Boyd county and probably one of the oldest in this section of this Ohio valley.—Ashland Independent.

ENTERTAINED HANDSOMELY.

On Monday evening last Miss Elizabeth Lester, of this city, and Miss Pauline Funk, of Chicago, jointly entertained very handsomely at the residence of the first named young lady. THE RACE FOR
UNITED STATES SENATE

Able Review of the Situation from the Morehead Mountaineer.

The Morehead Mountaineer has the following to say about a live matter:

The race for United States Senator is becoming more and more interesting as the date of the primary draws near. Voters are beginning to take a more careful estimate of the various candidates and to inquire more closely into the principles for which they stand. The plane upon which two of the candidates, Mr. J. C. W. Beckham and Hon. A. O. Stanley, pitched their campaigns is not particularly an elevating one and their continual hurraing of each other in the outset of their campaigns disgusted the better class of voters and drove from their support many who feel that a candidate for the high and important office of United States Senator should have something better to present to the voters than the faults and mistakes of the other. At a time when these two candidates were engaged in criminalization and recrimination, tactics which made Democrats wince and Republicans smile as they realized that excellent campaign material was being produced by them for the Republican hand-book in the final campaign should either of these combatant candidates be nominated, Governor James B. McCreary opened his campaign at Winchester, where a large and enthusiastic crowd of his friends and admirers had gathered from different sections of the State to hear him, and in that speech he sounded the note which all high-minded and right-thinking Democrats recognized as the utterances of a man eminently fitted for and entitled to the office which he sought. Governor McCreary's declaration that he would not make his campaign upon the demerits of his opponents, both of whom he regarded as gentlemen, but would make it upon his own record as a public servant was an announcement which met with general approval, both because of the disgust which the public felt with the methods employed by the other candidates, and the confidence which universally prevailed that Governor McCreary could produce a record equaled by none. All over the State from persons who appreciate honor and dignity as two of the first requisites in a candidate for the United States Senate, and from persons who value Democratic success, came such expressions as, "Those sentiments have the true McCreary ring," "That is the man to carry our banner to victory."

Governor McCreary could make his race on no issue more convincing or more popular than his record. His has been a long and active career of public service, and as a statesman he stands without a peer. His record has been searched from beginning to end by those who sought to find some error, and their verdict, rendered necessary by the facts before them was, "We can find no blemish in it." A man in long and continuous public service does well to keep his record so free from blot or stain that even his enemies, by closest scrutiny, can find no cause for criticism, but Governor McCreary has done more than to keep his record clean; he has filled it full of useful achievements, of which Kentucky's citizens are enjoying the benefits. While these achievements extend over a long period of time, and the list increases the farther back we go, to review the things accomplished during his present term as Governor alone is sufficient. He has obtained legislation which has given Kentucky a department of roads, to improve and extend her highways, a safe and competent banking department has been established. A forestry department to protect and restore the State's forests, a geological department to exhibit the soils, minerals, geological formations and advantages of Kentucky, a tuberculosis commission to protect the people from the ravages of this prevalent disease, an illiteracy commission to provide educational opportunities for the adult illiterates, a fish and game commission to restock Kentucky's streams and forests with fish and game, a State Insurance Rating Board to regulate and reduce insurance rates—are among the many constructive measures enacted during Governor McCreary's administration. Not less in importance under his direction of the State's penal and charitable institutions, and his aid in securing an adequate county unit bill. The health, educational, economic, moral and social welfare of the people have been successfully promoted in the inauguration of all these reforms. When Governor McCreary represented Kentucky in the United States Senate he was fully as active, and his labors resulted in legislation fully as constructive. Let those who would read a record of unrivaled statesmanship go there and turn the pages of that record and read for themselves. The labor interests of America scanned its every page, and announced to the world, "We find that he was always the friend of labor," reported, "It is without a blemish." His own party in Kentucky viewed it and declared in 1910, "No only is fit and able to lead us to victory in the State election." He led the deposed Democratic party back into power in Kentucky in the last election by a majority of 31,000, and if nominated for United States Senator his election is a certainty, and is conceded by all. Furthermore, the time which would be consumed by any other, who might fill the office, in learning the procedure and formulating plans would be saved by one already so well trained in the service, and would be used in promoting Kentucky's and the nation's interests.

It is believed that Mr. Stanley is allied with the whiskey interests, and cannot win. Mr. Beckham is advocated too ardently by partisan Republicans and partisan Republican newspapers to be a safe nominee for the Democratic party, and his attitude on temperance is not regarded as consistent by those who believe that to imbricate to betray the first principle of temperance.

ance. Governor James B. McCreary is not the candidate, as all admit, of any interests, have the best interests of Kentucky. His life of purity and of total abstinence speaks most powerfully his sentiments on the question of temperance. His candidacy at this time was unexpected to him, but was brought about in response to the demand from all over the State of Democrats who knew his strength and his party's need of him, and who confidently expect him to lead them to victory in November, 1914.

ADAMS.

On June 11th at Mattie, E. S. Kegley, our County Agent, addressed a meeting of the people from in and around Mattie on the subjects of good farming, gardening, etc. While there was not as many present as should have been, quite an interest was shown by those who were there by the close attention given to Mr. Kegley's remarks and by the many questions asked. Mr. Kegley showed himself very earnest and patient in trying to help the people and to instruct them in the ways and means of overcoming their difficulties.

After showing some specimens of oats, clover, vetch and alfalfa, Mr. Kegley urged us to put in some of each if it was only a small piece. If we would all do this it would only be a short while till we would put in larger fields because we would find it to our interest to do so. This taking the gospel of good farming to the people's homes is what will finally bring results.

THE HOME CIRCLE AND ITS INTERESTS.

WOMAN'S TASTE.

A cultivated taste makes a woman of elegance and refinement as decidedly as knowledge of classical literature does a gentleman; and there is nothing in which female vulgarity is more clearly shown than in want of taste.

This is an axiom that we think will admit of dispute; but it is a question of taste is natural, and how it may be acquired.

Delicate taste must, to a certain extent, depend upon the organization of the individual; and it is impossible for any rules to be laid down which will impart taste to persons entirely devoid of it.

This is very seldom the case with women, as it is one of the few points in which women naturally excel men. Man may be, and probably is, an animal to women in all that requires thought and general knowledge, but in the arrangement of a room and the introduction of ornamental furniture and articles of domestic life, there can be no doubt of the superiority of woman.

Everyone must have remarked the difference in the furnishing of a man's house and one where a lady is the thousand little elegancies that, though nothing in themselves adding like elphers, prodigiously value of the solid articles they appended to.

A GOOD NATURED MAN.

In an Omaha church, Sam Jones said, "Is there a man present who never spoken a cross word to his wife? The silence was becoming oppressive; every husband looked here and there; every husband wanted to step up, but did not dare to. But the man that had possession of Jones' attention vanished a moment later when round-faced, goodnatured man rose in his seat. "Thank God!" exclaimed Sam, "there is one man who never spoken a cross word to his wife." The good natured man smiled and said: "No sir, I never did. I'm a bachelor." Then he on his hat and calmly walked out the door.

Young man, there is one thing you can not do. You can not make a life unless you work. Better than you have lived and failed, you can't loaf around street corners, smoke cigars, tell foul stories, drink whiskey and sponge on someones else, without making a failure in life. You must learn a trade or get into some honest business. If you don't you will be a chronic loafer, despised by all, producing nothing, simply making yourself a burden on your parents or the state. There is no place in the world for loafers. The ripe fruit is all at the top of the tree. You must climb to get it. If you wait for it to fall at your feet you will never get it. Smarter men will jump up and get all. Move. Do something; no matter how small. It will be a starter. Help yourself and others will help you. There is no royal road to success. Toil, grit and endurance; these are requisites. Wake up and see what you can do.

SECRET OF CHEERFULNESS.

How you admire that lady who seems to be all brightness and cheerfulness, and yet she is as busy as the rest of us in household duties with everything to do. Listen, and we'll tell you the reason why she seems to have more time than the rest of us, she wastes no time in fretting; she has learned the true value of things. She never frets and she never scolds. It doesn't pay. Fretting and scolding leave ugly marks upon the face and upon the character. In everything wrong, the day upside down, the fire won't burn, the children out of sorts, a picked-up dinner, and company at the last moment. She does the best she can and lets the consequences take care of themselves. Worry will not help matters; and then she has a secret, a secret that she is willing to tell all her friends. Every day at a certain hour she goes to her room and locking the door, has half an hour absolutely to herself. If she is very tired she wrings a towel out of water; hot as she can bear and winds it about her neck, renewing it till the weary muscles relax and she can lie down and sleep for a few minutes, arise refreshed and invigorated for the rest of the day. Try it, weary mother. Be good enough to yourself and those who depend upon you to take time for rest and refreshment.

The girl who is so lacking in self-respect as to be ashamed of any honest work commands no respect. She who endeavors to do whatever work her hands find to do in the best and most thorough manner, as by God's law, makes that and the action itself. It is not so much the work as the manner in which it is done that ennobles or disgraces the worker. A well scrubbed floor is a much more useful work than a stupid oil painting in which much valuable canvass and other material has gone to waste. In intelligence and faithfulness tell in every department of work. Respect your work whatever that work may be, and remember that the best brightest and wisest of men and women will respect you for it.

SAYS SULPHUR WILL DRIVE ECZEMA FROM THE SKIN AT ONCE

Use like cold cream to instantly stop itching and clear the skin.

Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common bold-sulphur makes into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching tions the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it to the irritated parts the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years common bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the practice of dermatology and cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite destroying property. It is not only parasiticidal, but also antipruritic, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always effecting a permanent cure it never fails to instantly subside the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

LIME FOR AGRICULTURAL PURPOSES.

The use of lime in different forms on Kentucky soils has been attended with such good results that its use is rapidly on the increase. Many plants are being established for supplying the demand. Some of these plants supply natural ground limestone, while others supply burned lime, hydrated lime, or "agricultural lime."

In order that farmers may purchase lime intelligently, it is necessary for them to understand the nature of the materials offered for their use.

Lime in its various forms is used primarily to correct soil acidity. Raw ground limestone, fresh burned lime, and hydrated lime will all perform this function. Limestone rock is the source of all these forms of lime. If 100 pounds of pure limestone were thoroughly burned, it would yield 66 pounds of fresh lime. If this 66 pounds of fresh lime were treated with just enough water to completely slake it, it would weigh 74 pounds. These amounts of the different forms would have identically the same value in correcting soil acidity. Stated in another way, 1120 pounds of fresh lime, 1480 pounds of water slaked lime and 2000 pounds of ground limestone are of equal value in correcting soil acidity.

Fresh lime and hydrated lime, after application to the soil, soon take up carbon dioxide (the part lost in burning) and become the same chemical compound as the original rock from which they were made.

This information will serve as a basis for calculating the relative cost of actual neutralizing power in the various forms of lime offered at different prices.

Hydrated lime can be made by anyone by taking fresh lime and slaking it with water. "Agricultural lime" is generally ground hydrated lime. Fresh burnt lime and hydrated lime must of necessity sell for more per unit of actual neutralizing power than ground limestone, on account of the expense of burning.

Fresh burnt lime and hydrated lime may give better results the first year than ground limestone, but this is because of its caustic effects on the organic matter of the soil, causing a more rapid giving up of nitrogen. Experiments in Maryland and Pennsylvania show that used through a long period of time, the raw ground limestone gives the better results.

Limestone need not be ground as finely as some people recommend. If it is ground to pass a screen of ten meshes per linear inch, it is sufficiently fine. This is about the fineness of coarse corn meal. Screenings, the coarsest of which pass a screen with four meshes to the inch are quite satisfactory if sold at a reasonable price.

A large percentage of such screenings consists of fine material. Such screenings are being sold in Kentucky at 60 cents to 75 cents per ton on board cars at the plant. More finely ground limestone of high quality is being sold in the State at $1.00 per ton on board cars at the plant.

Ground limestone is calcium carbonate. The value of one ground limestone or calcium carbonate as compared with another depends on the purity of the rock.

PIKE COUNTY NEWS

PARALYSIS TAKES AGED CITIZEN.

William Trivette, aged 74, a Civil War veteran in the Union ranks and man of public affairs in Pike county, died at his home on Third street last Saturday morning from a sudden attack of paralysis of the heart. His health had been perfect up to within one year of his death, and the disease made its first attack upon him about one year ago. Since that time his health has been noticeably weakening, but the end was not expected and came as a surprise to his family. He died early Saturday morning after a hemorrhage of the lungs following a brief illness since Friday night.

Mr. Trivette was one of the oldest and most widely known citizens of Pike county, and his son, E. E. Trivette, is the present postmaster at Pikeville. He has been an active hand in public affairs of Pikeville and Pike county for many years, and lived on Shively creek before moving to Pikeville. The last years of his life were spent practically in retirement, though to the last he was concerned in the city's government. Being a member of the public school board and a committeeman in the matter of erecting a new public and high school here this summer it was mainly through his efforts that the county and town finally agreed to consolidate their building funds and erect one large building instead of two smaller ones. Without his efforts neither of these enterprises would have been undertaken at the present, but would have been indefinitely delayed. Death overtook him, however, before the work had been started, or even the plans for the work had been finally settled. His was a busy life, and doing good was his chief employment.

The funeral and interment ceremonies were held from the Presbyterian church Monday afternoon, Rev. C. A. Dugger having charge. He leaves a family.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

The annual conference of the M. E. Church South for the Ashland district finished its session here last Friday after continuing throughout the entire week, and all the ministers and delegates returned to their various homes well pleased with Pikeville. Various acknowledgments of the warm and courteous welcome which they received here have since been published in several different newspapers and religious periodicals of the church, and many high compliments were paid to our city which our people have tried hard to merit.

Delightful Play.

At the close of the conference Friday evening the ladies of the missionary work of the church, assisted by, and under the direction of, Mrs. B. M. Keith, of Louisville, and Mrs. G. A. Nash, of Ashland, presented a beautiful play entitled, "The Call to Christian America." All the benighted lands of the earth needing the helping hand of Christian America were represented, and the ladies wore dresses modeled after the flags of these needy lands. The large audience heard with appreciation the beautiful songs rendered by both Mrs. Keith and Mrs. Nash, which comprised a very interesting part of the program.

WHAT NEXT FOR BEAU BRUMMEL?

Pikeville, and not Paris, appears to be the world's center of fashions. The latest wrinkle has to do with the hair. One month ago the young men could not wear their hair long enough, and now they wish to have their hair cut a la mode. Just drop into your favorite barber shop and order a Bald Jack, and in a jiffy your head will be shaved and sandpapered, and you may now put on your plug hat, take your cane upon your arm and march resolutely out onto the beautiful Main street promenade with the full assurance that your cranium will not look awkward, and that you will find scores of others suffering from the same affliction.

GREAT BAPTIST MEETING COMING.

The regular second-Sunday meeting of Baptists, which Rev. N. T. Hopkins, with the assistance of others, has been holding in the open just across the river during the past three years, was held Sunday morning and afternoon. At this time it was announced that a great religious carnival will be inaugurated here beginning Friday, July 10th, and lasting three days. These special occasions are held annually, and it is the custom for many hundreds of the faithful to attend from every county in Eastern Kentucky, and from Virginia and West Virginia. The meeting will be a continuous session, and several other divines of this and neighbor states will be present to aid Mr. Hopkins in preaching to the great congregation.

ORIENTAL CLUB.

A number of Pikeville young people are preparing to organize what is to be known as the Oriental Club, and are preparing also to rent suitable quarters in the business district for the club. The object of the organization is of a literary nature. It is planned to decorate the club room in true oriental style, and it is said the members while attending will also be required to dress accordingly. No definite information has yet been given out, but it is a reasonable certainty that its promoters will be successful in their undertaking.

LANGLEYS AT HOME.

Congressman John W. Langley arrived here from Washington last Monday. Mrs. Langley had been here for several days before he came. They are now living at their beautiful home on the point just across the river, and will remain here indefinitely.

BOY SCOUTS HIKE 22 MILES.

Under the leadership of Rev. C. A. Dugger, of the Presbyterian Church, and Capt. Eugene Auxier, the Boy Scout company of Pikeville made a successful hike of 22 miles to Johns Creek and return last Monday morning. The boys thoroughly enjoyed their trip to the country and picked up some valuable experience in camp life. They erected a temporary camp on their journey at noon, and prepared their own dinner, after which they had a plunge into the creek. They returned in the evening just a little tired and footsore, but confident that they can lay it into any other Boy Scout company in the country.

Mr. Dugger has done much to encourage them in their work, and enjoyed their hardships with them. He has taught them how to get the best out of camp life, and believes that a hike is one of the greatest lessons in self dependence. "Boys will be boys, or Indians, rather," said he, "and by making proper use of their bent to wild life, a valuable step in their education may be accomplished."

A more extended trip, involving greater "perils and hardships," will be considered and mapped out in a few days.

POOL PARLOR SOLD.

Wade Thompson last Tuesday became owner of the Wiseman pool parlor on Second street through purchase from manager Ed Wiseman. Mr. Wiseman will go to Wayland, Ky., on Beaver creek, where he will engage in other business on Steel's creek.

Mr. Thompson was formerly owner of the pool room and bowling alley in the York building, and has had considerable experience in the business.

ASKS BIG DAMAGES.

The case of John W. Kern against the Borderland Coal Co., in which Kern asks $25,000 damages for the loss of his left eye and other injuries, was called for trial Tuesday before the circuit court. Kern alleges that he received the injuries complained of while working in one of the company's mines on the eastern border of Pike county, near the West Virginia line. It is said he was working with a motor, and was engaged in pulling steel rails from under a mass of falling slate, when one of the rails suddenly broke loose from the wreckage and struck him on the head, putting out the eye and inflicting a wound that all but proved fatal. The jury took the case Wednesday evening.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

At a meeting of the committees managing the project of building two new school buildings in Pikeville, one for the city graded school and the other for the county high school, it was decided last week to consolidate the building funds and erect one building on the lot recently purchased of Robt. Walker by the city committee, and upon this ground a modern and well equipped school building to cost approximately $50,000 will be built to serve for both the city and the county.

Miss Myrtle Byrd, who has been with the Kate D. Hatcher millinery establishment here for several months, left last week for her home in New Deatur, Alabama.

Circuit Court has continued in session this week. There will be one more week of court.

Judge H. H. Stallard of the County Court returned last Saturday night from a business visit to Cincinnati. Tobe Wiseman is spending this and next week in Johnson county on business.

Mr. W. J. Walker and little son Donald spent last Saturday and Sunday in Ashland and Catlettsburg as the guests of relatives. Mr. Walker joined them Sunday.

Attorney J. R. Johnson, who has been laid up with fever for several months, is now able to be down town occasionally in his roller chair.

Durand T. Keel paid a brief business visit to the forks of the river last week.

James Hatcher will soon have his new cold storage plant on Second street completed. The engines are now being put in.

J. C. Phelps left last Tuesday afternoon for his farm in Russell county, Virginia, near the city of Ashland. He will spend a few weeks of the hot weather on the farm.

M. L. Senter, Police Judge of Elk-horn City, was here on an official visit during the early part of the week.

E. H. McGugin, plumber and electrician of Ravenswood, W. Va., has been in Pikeville for several days this week. Mr. McGugin has done considerable professional work in the Sandy valley.

C. C. Woodson and Howard L. Burpo, of Jenkins, were in Pikeville last Monday. Mr. Burpo is a foreman of engines on the B. & O.

Miss Mary Alice Marrs left in company with her uncle, Grover Marrs, for Winchester last Sunday morning, where she will spend a few days with her grandparents, Judge and Mrs. J. T. Marrs. The judge has been in this city, which was his former home, for several days, but returned to his farm at Winchester last Wednesday morning.

Dr. F. C. Edgar went to Jenkins on a professional visit last Wednesday morning.

D. M. Howerton, city attorney of Catlettsburg, was the guest of John M. Hatcher at his home on College street last Monday.

James Hatcher will soon have his cold storage plant on Second street finished. Mr. Mattingly is now engaged in setting the boiler and engines in place. At a future date Mr. Hatcher expects to conduct a dairy and delivery for the Pikeville trade, and by utilizing his farm at Ivel, Ky., for this purpose, he may also be able to supply Prestonsburg and intermediate towns.

Mrs. F. A. Engler left last Saturday for her farm near Fort Pierce, Fla. Mr. Engler has recently purchased a fine tract of land in the fruit growing section of that state, and this will be their future home. Mr. Will Ross accompanied Mrs. Engler to Huntington, where she left via Richmond, Va., for Florida.

Mrs. Stella Ferguson and her mother, Mrs. Myers, of Ashland, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Pinn last Saturday. They had just come to Pikeville from a visit to relatives at Heller.

Rev. M. D. McClelland, of Jenkins, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of that city, and formerly pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Pikeville, was here last Saturday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Harman and family on the Heights.

John W. Kerr, of Regina, a former citizen of Pikeville, whom we were very sorry to lose last fall, was in town looking after business matters last Monday. Mr. Kerr is now a frequent visitor to Pikeville, but says he loves the country. "That is the life," Miss Julia Becraft and John England, both of Regina, Ky., were quietly married at the Damon hotel Wednesday, Rev. Wade Itow officiating. They will return to Regina, where they will make their home.

Lucien S. Johnson, of Louisville, was here Wednesday stopping at the Pike hotel.

Geo. W. Hackney is spending a few days of this week at Mouth of Card on business.

Mrs. J. F. Davis, of Pikeville, was here for a few days of this week.

LETCHER COUNTY AND WHITESBURG.

What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

Whitesburg, Ky., June 17.—Aunt Christie Stallard, reputed to be 106 years old, the oldest and most remarkable woman in Letcher county, and perhaps in the state, fell and received severe injuries while working in her garden near her home at Hilliard, seven miles from here on Colly creek, where for nearly half a century she has lived alone.

Her left hip is said to have been dislocated and she was otherwise injured. It is said that on the occasion of her 106 birthday a few days ago Aunt Christie prepared dinner in her quaint way, on an old-fashioned fireplace. Until receiving the fall she had enjoyed almost perfect health, and was scarcely ever under the care of a physician.

The wild career of William Day, formerly of Breathitt county, came to an end at Neen, the new town on Boone's Fork, last Wednesday night. Day, it is said, went on a rampage while drinking heavily, taking his shot gun, a late model automatic. Charging up and down the main thoroughfare of the town, shooting right and left, he ran on Magistrate James M. Wright. Wright demanded his surrender, but failing to abide by the officers' instructions Wright summoned a number of men to assist him. Then Day began shooting into the men. About the first victim was Squire Wright. His continued shooting until eleven men and boys were more or less wounded, some of them pretty seriously. It was thought for a time that three or four of the people would die of their wounds.

The last victim was Marion Hall upon whom outlaw Day shot first, through his left leg. Hall proved pretty quick and simultaneously with Day's second shot he fired again killing Day. The outlaw's second shot gave Hall some very serious wounds, but it is believed he will easily recover. To make sure of his work Hall fired two or three shots into Day's body after he had fallen seemingly lifeless. In the meantime officer Blaine Collins was organizing a posse to take the outlaw dead or alive. Day for over a year had been a terror to that section.

Saturday morning Dutch Dermot, aged 20, a railroad employee, was drowned in the Kentucky river at Viper, below here. Dermot took cramp-spell and drowned before assistance could reach him. He was from Trodhead, Laurel county, to which place the remains were shipped for interment. He is said to have been popular in that section.

After a long drawn out fight over the postoffice at Mayking, in this county, John W. Adams has landed the appointment over S. E. Adams, the present postmaster, who has been continually in service for over 20 years.

The new appointee has given bond and will take charge of the office as soon as he is commissioned. N. M. Webb, editor of the Whitesburg Eagle, took charge of the Whitesburg office Saturday.

Mrs. William Collins, estimable wife of Squire Collins, of the Middle Rockhouse creek section, died Monday morning after a long illness of a cancer on her breast. She leaves several children besides a husband to mourn her death. Mrs. Collins was one of the good women of the county.

In Saturday's meeting of the Letcher County Board of Education the town trustees proposed a joint high and graded school building, and same was accepted, the latter body to retain a one-half interest of school grounds. It is understood that work will begin at once on a $30,000 building on College Hill in East End.

Adjutant General J. Tandy Ellis, of Frankfort, arrived here Saturday evening where he gave the Letcher county company National Guard their annual inspection. General Ellis complimented the Whitesburg company very highly upon their splendid body, saying it was one of the best drilled in the whole of the service.

Contracts were yesterday awarded to D. C. Brown, of Blackey, for the construction of four new public school buildings in Letcher county, the work to start immediately. Other new school houses are to be built in the county.

E. J. Rose, of Wilmington, representing The Champion Bridge Co., arrived at Mader where he has started work on a new steel bridge across the Kentucky river there. Five other bridges are to be built in Letcher county. It is likely that Mr. Rose's company will build all of them. They are to be built this year.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Dr. J. C. Cheney, and send for circular free.
